

Duke Voice Care Center Presents... Soul Ingredients® Workshop

with Dr. Trineice Robinson-Martin

Friday, April 13, 2018

9am - 9pm

Hayti Heritage Center

804 Old Fayetteville Street, Durham, NC

Dr. Trineice Robinson-Martin
www.drtrineice.com

Celebrate with your voice, and celebrate with soul!

Do you sing pop, rock, R&B, jazz, gospel, praise & worship, or other styles? Dr. Trineice will teach you exercises, techniques and performance strategies that can help you sing with power and ease.

Sessions include:

9am - 12:30pm

- Understanding Your Body: How the Voice Works
Vocal registers and how to build, blend and mix your voice
- “Default” Voice vs. Stylistic Choice: Crafting Emotional Expression in Your Sound
Maximize your vocal color choices and increase vocal stamina

12:30 - 2pm Lunch on your own

2 - 5pm

- Vocal Health Techniques to Prevent Voice Problems
- Real-Time Strategies for Vocal Wellness
Technology to help your singing
- Nourishing the Soul Sound & Maximizing Your Vocal Training Time
How to develop your voice for styles including jazz, gospel, soul, R&B, blues, praise & worship, contemporary

5 - 7pm Dinner on your own

7 - 9pm

- “Getting Down to the Nitty Gritty”: Style Application in Context

Join us also to celebrate WORLD VOICE DAY

At the Hayti Heritage Center

Saturday April 14, 1-5pm

Soul Ingredients workshop is FREE but registration is required.

Space is limited: make your reservation now by visiting dukevoicecare.org & clicking “Events”

Questions? Call 919-681-4984.

Dr. Trineice Robinson-Martin is the creator of Soul Ingredients®, a teaching method for developing a singer’s musical abilities in African American folk based music styles such as jazz, gospel, R&B, and blues. An accomplished performer, teacher and scholar, Dr. Trineice’s recently published book So You Want to Sing Gospel: A Guide for Performers was produced in partnership with the National Association of Teachers of Singing. Dr. Trineice serves on the music faculty at Princeton University, on the national faculty of Gospel Music Workshop of America Inc., and is the Executive Director of the African American Jazz Caucus, Inc.

FREE TO ATTEND
when you register.

Go to dukevoicecare.org
& click “Events”

DukeHealth

Duke Voice Care Center

Duke Voice Care Center 12th Annual World Voice Day Celebration

with Dr. Trineice Robinson-Martin

Saturday, April 14, 2018
1-5pm

Hayti Heritage Center

804 Old Fayetteville Street, Durham, NC

A Recipe for Vocal Success

Vocal health isn't just for singers—everyone needs a healthy voice for communication. Join Duke Voice Care Center's team of vocal health experts for an afternoon of interactive learning sessions and performance, and you'll learn the ingredients for a lifetime of vocal health.

STROLL through our vocal health fair, where you'll discover how the voice works, how to know if you have a voice problem, and tips for keeping your voice healthy

DISCUSS your vocal health questions in Q&A sessions with our team of laryngologists, voice therapists and singing voice specialists

BROWSE our selection of mini learning sessions, including:

- Emotion as a vocal ingredient
- Getting to know your vocal flavors: How does the voice work?
- Sound advice: Hearing health on-stage and off
- Vocal warm-ups: A recipe for success with your voice
- How I got my voice back: A music educator's personal journey

LISTEN to the captivating voice of Dr. Trineice Robinson-Martin, creator of Soul Ingredients® and the 2018 Recipient of Duke Voice Care Center's Patrick D. Kenan Award for Vocal Health and Wellness. Her performance repertoire spans jazz, gospel, R&B, pop, soul, blues and more! Dr. Trineice will raise the roof in an exclusive concert to celebrate World Voice Day, featuring the NCCU Vocal Jazz Ensemble.

NCCU Vocal Jazz Ensemble

Dr. Trineice Robinson-Martin
www.drtrineice.com

Refreshments provided

World Voice Day workshop is FREE but registration is required. Space is limited: make your reservation now by visiting dukevoicecare.org & clicking "Events" Questions? Call 919-681-4984.

Duke Voice Care Center

